

For school and community-based educators of PreK-12 learners

Educating for Justice and Thrivance: An Exploration of Learning in Places Educator Frameworks

October 14, 2021-May 26, 2022

Online sessions

2nd & 4th Thursdays each month; 7-8:30pm

Asynchronous activities between sessions

Learn about:

- Culture, learning, and identity related to teaching and learning
- Power & historicity as connected to teaching and learning
- Supporting sense-making about social and ecological systems
 - Equitable engagement with families and communities
 - Developing practice to support children's wonderings and observations in the world
- NGSS-aligned science learning environments

Apply ideas directly to your practice
Connect with educators from across the country
Build your professional networks

Interested? Interested? Click here to register
Questions? Email Mary Starr starrm@mimathandscience.org

Professional development is free to attend.
Scechs available for MI teachers

